POLIN.

The angel of death visited the home of Mr. Robert Thompson Saturday claiming his little daughter Miss Carrie Thompson. Miss Carrie was a bright, pretty girl of fifteen years. She was lovely in home, school or society. Her death came as a shock to all who knew her, but it was expected for some time as that dreaded disease consumption, had its deadly claim upon her. Friends said it is not only for her parents and relatives, but the writer of this letter was her teacher and he too drops tears of grief. May her kind acts and influence with her companions be strong and lasting and let her example be a guide for all that knew her.

Oat harvest is over in this section and the crop has proven a good one. There are more oats this season than was ever known before, and prospects are they will be lower.

On last Thursday night some "night owl" invaded the turkey roost of Thomas Reed and took eleven fine young turkeys. No trace leading to the recovery of the turkeys has been found. This was a good haul for the rogue, but it is dangerous business, and if they don't watch they may think someone owns a magazine gun in this community.

Hillsboro.

There is very little news to write with the exception of base ball gossip and political talk, but we will try and furnish one of the best county papers in the State with some of our happenings.

There is quite a complaint being made by some of our people about the boys playing base ball of a Saturday evening, because it takes up too much time. Our boys are good and industrious, and work faithfully five and a half days in each week, and they should certainly have Saturday evenings for enjoyment. Strange to say, some of those who object to ball playing, can find time to attend county court, public sales, political speakings, and all other kinds of meetings, but the industrious working boys are not to lose time enough to play a game of ball. Let them set the example of faithful work, before they say anything about our boys being "time killers."

Messames Erma Leachman and Annie Goby are visiting friends at Fairfield this week.

We have been requested to say that there will be a base ball game here Saturday between the Cross Roads team and their team. The entire "Pennyrite" team is expected to be present.

The corn and tobacco crops are looking well but are beginning to need rain. The old farmers say that the present indication for a good crop is better now than for years.

The Democratic primary is getting to a fever heat here and it is not wanting for talk, for each man is busy for his favorite candidate. One of our citizens says that he is going to quit work until the election is over, for there are so many candidates calling on him that he has hardly time to eat, much less to work. From the best information we can find, Keene, Goodlett, and Miss Shanty will get the bulk of the vote here.

Jas. W. Settles who has recently sold his farm, is very low with "Oklahoma fever," with chances for his recovery very doubtful.

The protracted meeting which begun Wednesday night under the most favorable circumstances is continuing with growing interest. Eld. Perry R. Campbell of Harrodsburg is doing the preaching to the delight of all. He is in his twenty-second year, and it is safe to say that no series of sermons were ever preached here that received or attracted more attention than his. The verdict of the people is that Campbell has something to say and knows how to say it. His preaching is plain and simple, yet earnest and powerful, and above all it is Scriptural. The people are so much impressed with his knowledge of God's Word and his ability to impart it that they are coming from quite a distance to hear him.

Special of Helms Takes Her Name. According to old and established custom in Japan, the oldest child whether male or female, must under all circumstances abide at and inherit the home. By this means a continuous succession is assured, and the father cannot pass into the hands of strangers.

From this arrangement it follows of necessity that no child could marry and live with an eldest child of the opposite sex. When an heiress weds, her husband must assume the family name.

A similar custom prevails in certain families among the people of the Basque provinces, in the north of Spain. An eldest son among them is not allowed to marry an eldest daughter, if both are firstborn. In this case, too, the husband of any eldest daughter takes up his residence under his wife's roof and adopts her name, which is thus transmitted to his children.
